
A name fitting UVSC's slant

After the Michael Moore fiasco and Utah Valley State College's decision to select the "Vagina Monologues" as its school play I decided I would never support this college, even by visiting its campus, and that I would encourage my friends to withdraw any support they might be offering.

I would suggest he hide in a cave, but he has probably already attempted that. Sadly even Utah Co. can not provide a sheltered enough environment for such people.

Charles Abbot is a creep. I'm willing to bet that he's never watched or read any of Michael Moore's stuff. I'm willing to bet even more that he's never attended "The Vagina Monologues" and that he has no idea what it's about. I've watched about everything Michael Moore has put out and read a few of his books as well. While I don't give him much more credit than being a good entertainer, I also credit him for using his celebrity to get people really thinking about important issues. I remember what it was like at UVSC around the time of the Michael Moore speech. It stopped feeling like a high school and started feeling like a real college for once. As for The Vagina Monologues, I attended it the first time, because I wanted to take my girlfriend who had been raped by a previous boyfriend. It was really great and I know it helped her to see that there was a lot of support out there for people in her situation. We attended it again last year. This time, my sister and ultra-conservative mother came with us. The saw it for what it was and really liked it. For those who haven't seen it, I'd highly recommend it. It's pretty eye-opening and an overall great experience. And, for those like Charles Abbot, it's probably not anything like you think. (Scared of vaginas Charles? Perhaps you don't know what one is?)

I find Michael Moore to be no more, no less radical than hardline conservatives such as Hannity. I personally did not enjoy seeing Hannity at the Stadium of Fire a few years back, just as I have no desire to see Michael Moore. I personally prefer to listen to hardline liberals and conservatives while taking everything with a grain of salt due to their biases and find out the truth myself. UVSC has every right to bring who they wish. As do conservative universities such as BYU.

Seriously? Seriously people are still complaining about this? So what if UVSC had Michael Moore come to speak? Did that mean that your or your children HAD to go and listen to him? So what if they did that play? It's a scary word, I know, but did that mean you HAD to go and watch it? It's time to let all this stuff go. Let the saints at BYU be who they want to be. Let the hellians at the U be who they want to be. And let these "uber-liberals" at UVSC be who they want to be.

"How about "UVSC at Berkeley"?"

Umm, how to explain this so that you could understand... hmmm well you see, ummm.. it can't be UVSC AT Berkeley, because it isn't in Berkeley. So maybe Berkeley at Orem?

And by the way, why would a play with the word vagina in it make you boycott something? Are you scared of them? They don't bite! Well, sometimes they do! ;D ;D

Thank you Charles Abbott for expressing the feelings of many of us throughout Utah Valley!

Which would seem to indicate the mentality level of Utah Valley. Yes, thank you for pointing out just how many unmedicated Neanderthals are roaming around unsupervised. ::)

Charles began his long career of activism back in the 1960's.

I remember seeing him on State Street with a large sign, denouncing the Dick Van Dyke Show for its filthy material.

The guy is entitled to his opinions and his beliefs on any given subject.

But I seriously doubt that his decision to withhold HIS support will sink the college, or even make the tiniest ripple.

Well, well. It is plain to see that diversity and tolerance have been totally stomped to death in your camp.

He's probably uncomfortable even saying penis (and perhaps the uses of said anatomy). I'm sure that in his mind we all have the genitalia of Barbie and Ken, as God intended.

I seem to recall a movie titled..."She Sings With Her WHAT?". I never did watch that movie.

The name "UVSC at Berkeley" will not work because, for no other reason, UVSC is not "at Berkeley," unless Mr. Abbott refers to Utah Valley as "Berkeley," which I doubt anyone living here could possibly think it is! Berkeley is much too conservative, of course, to be compared to Utah Valley.
