
to disagree, dislike or hate

Posted by dailyherald - 2007/08/01 22:15

To disagree, to dislike, to hate?

Rex M. Rogers

A new trend in American culture is that people are quick to transpose "to disagree" into "to dislike" or even "to hate." In other words, if you disagree with someone else, however respectfully, you'll find yourself accused of disliking or hating the other person.

Read more...

=====

Re: to disagree, dislike or hate

Posted by mom - 2007/08/07 06:08

amen

=====