
Take action to prevent a North American Union

Posted by dailyherald - 2007/09/19 21:05

Currently President Bush, Prime Minister Martin of Canada, and President Felipe Hinojosa of Mexico, in secret plans with CFR members, intend to push the United States, Mexico, Canada and the citizens of these nations into a European style nation -- without firing a single shot.

Most Americans are asleep at the wheel on this. Most Americans have never even heard of the CFR and do not realize that this organization is essentially the "power behind the throne." Yes, they will let the rubes vote for a President, CFR candidate A and CFR candidate B. However, in the end the CFR will continue pushing it's agenda through controlling the Executive Branch. Getting the Executive branch out of their hands will be very difficult. However, with enough informed Americans we could elect enough Congressmen who might starve the beast (the bloated national and international bureaucracies). Better yet, enough Congressmen might open an investigation into the history and aims of the CFR. Exposing the rascals would do a great deal toward curbing their power.

That is the key... exposing these damned rascals and their secret plans! It is absolutely amazing how many Americans are asleep at the wheel... actually sad. Our government is so far gone morally, ethically, spiritually and financially that it is staggering and hard to fathom. This North American Union (SPP) agenda needs to be completely brought before the public because if this were to hit mainstream media like a ton of bricks, maybe, just maybe enough people would unite and march on Washington (of course, there are countless reasons besides this sinister SPP plan to storm Washington and boot 'em all out on the street).

We need a good old fashioned picket march on Washington, DC and not just a few thousand... hundreds of thousands! If we could wave a magic wand, the ideal situation would be for most of those politicians to disappear from office and replaced with moral, ethical people who actually give a damn about this country and her constitution instead of their bank accounts first and then Ron Paul instituted as President! This would be a nice fresh start to recovery, but unfortunately... it will never happen and we'll just continue down the road to being dumbed down and controlled in a police state by power-hungry "leaders" in a bankrupt nation!

Now that you've exposed those secret plans, they're no longer secret. :-

It's quite convenient for your to speculate on everything based on "secret plans". Otherwise, your theories don't have a leg to stand on. ;)

Prime Minister Martin of Canada,...

Canada's P.M. is Stephen Harper...

Every time a U.S. president runs next door, or when the neighbours come over, this spectre of paranoia jumps out. Sure, they're will be trade pacts, security agreements, and more put in place. They're our neighbours, and as a self respecting, confident nation we can and should have those agreements in place with friends and neighbours. Their benefit and ours, and all that. But union, in some sort of shared sovereign sense? I really don't see a lot of non internet conspiracy type evidence that this is on the plate of anybody who matters.

So nice of you, Harper, and Canada to take our illegals off from our hands! When their numbers reach critical mass in Canada the NAU will be a moot point.

Refugees pose 'potential crisis'

The Windsor Star Published: Wednesday, September 19, 2007

Mayor Francis asks the feds for help to deal with influx of Mexicans Doug Schmidt and Dave Battagello, With city shelters filled and a surge of further refugee claimants expected to flood into Windsor, Mayor Eddie Francis is pleading for financial help from Ottawa.

"When there is a possibility of adding thousands to the local social assistance system as a result of refugee claimants crossing the border into Windsor, we will become overwhelmed and our current resources will not suffice," Francis wrote in a letter sent Wednesday to Prime Minister Stephen Harper.

Over the past three weeks, 45 families and 31 individuals -- approximately 200 people -- entered Canada at the Detroit River crossings and applied in Windsor for shelter and social assistance after filing refugee claims with the Canada Border Services Agency. Municipal agencies dealing with the sudden influx of mainly Mexican refugee applicants are renting out hotel rooms and bracing for predicted thousands more to come.

If the White House has it plasterd all over their website how the h_ _ _ is that a secret?

What's so bad about planning and discussing security issues that effect us? Come on, I won't tell anyone, I promise.

Footnote:

I took a look at the 1st website you gave here. I was able to download, for free, the report; Building a North American Community.

You should read it. You just might learn something, instead of sucking in all that propoganda the "sky is falling folks" are feeding you.

Thanks for the link. I'm really enjoying this report. It has some extremely well thought out solutions to the myriad of problems we face with our neighbors.

Just Mexico? Why not South America too? Course, there's gonna have to be about 50 years of regime and dictatorship change to get rid of the corruption...in the U.S. as well....then it might be plausable to compare it to Europe's system.

NAU will not happen.

If it does, it won't happen for a long, long time.

First: Why would Canada want to merge with America? I can't think of a single reason.

Second: Why would America want to merge with Canada? Everybody seems to be more intent on keeping Mexico OUT.

shrug

It all seems so terribly unlikely to me that I have a very hard time believing it.

That's the fallacy V. None of these countries are proposing any such agreement. One third of all trade is done between Canada and Mexico. We have common borders. And we have a very serious immigrant problem. A major part of the reason is that Mexico needs to accelerate their economic development. Simply putting up a fence is not going to solve this problem. Creating a North American Economic space has nothing to do with merging into one country. And has everything to do with solving some of our problems.

SPP isn't a series of agreements and harmonized laws?

Ever heard of the European Common Market? What ever happened to it?

NAFTA, GATT, FTAA is the fast track version of the Common Market.

Do an Internet search. African Union - even has a flag. South American Union. Asian Union. Before you know it you have ten global regional unelected rulers. What do you suppose seven of those ten future leaders get it into their heads to do someday? If you don't know, then I wouldn't want to spoil how that story ends.

That seems to be your answer to everything.
