
Old Norse Bible donated to BYU

Posted by Mbyuaf - 2008/03/09 17:53

This thread discusses the Content article: Old Norse Bible donated to BYU

The article established credibility regarding few translations and Icelandic language purity. My family donated a Danish Bible to the BYU Library (Tom Perry Collection) that belonged to our grandfather, Peter Hendrickson, that dates back several centuries. This Bible (that we donated) is in poor condition, but we hope BYU scholars and researchers find ways of study into these ancient scriptures. Thanks BYU and Leifson family. Mark Wight

=====

Re:Old Norse Bible donated to BYU

Posted by ThomasK - 2008/03/10 15:32

Thanks to the Leifson family also. It will be interesting to read some of the translations some day.

Speaking of old bibles. We have an old family bible. My favorite is the "Temperance Pledge" signed by my uncles. Uncle Harry signed his in pencil. You can still see his name where he wasn't able to completely erase it out. Uncle Harry was always my favorite. I miss him dearly.

=====

Re:Old Norse Bible donated to BYU

Posted by Jaye - 2008/03/11 18:26

I must need new reading glasses.

I thought the topic read...'Old HORSE Bible':.blush: :P

=====