
Egg prices crack budgets

Posted by The Keeper - 2008/03/23 07:46

This thread discusses the Content article: Egg prices crack budgets

She has stopped taking the kids to the food aisles with her because she feels uncomfortable saying no.

This is where the little kiddies get their real life lesson in economics, keeping their supply lines open, and what happens when animal welfare Nazis getting in the way!

=====

Re:Egg prices crack budgets

Posted by Betz - 2008/03/23 10:42

This thread discusses the Content article: Egg prices crack budgets

She has stopped taking the kids to the food aisles with her because she feels uncomfortable saying no.

I'm just absolutely incredulous that any family could go through that much food in a week. Maybe my family just eats light. :blink:

Up until recently, I had three teenagers at home and the only food we couldn't seem to keep enough of in the fridge was milk. If this ladys kids eat three-egg omelets as after-school-snacks it's her own fault for allowing them to do that.

=====

Re:Egg prices crack budgets

Posted by floydthebarber - 2008/03/23 12:38

Betz wrote:

This thread discusses the Content article: Egg prices crack budgets

She has stopped taking the kids to the food aisles with her because she feels uncomfortable saying no.

I'm just absolutely incredulous that any family could go through that much food in a week. Maybe my family just eats light. :blink:

Up until recently, I had three teenagers at home and the only food we couldn't seem to keep enough of in the fridge was milk. If this ladys kids eat three-egg omelets as after-school-snacks it's her own fault for allowing them to do that. Eggs are one of these things that are great to eat in moderation. They have found out that they are not near as bad as thought 10 or 20 years ago as far a cholesterol and saturated fat goes, but three or four a day?

I don't think so.

=====

Re:Egg prices crack budgets

Posted by Blondie - 2008/03/23 13:47

Betz wrote:

This thread discusses the Content article: Egg prices crack budgets

She has stopped taking the kids to the food aisles with her because she feels uncomfortable saying no.

I'm just absolutely incredulous that any family could go through that much food in a week. Maybe my family just eats light. :blink:

Up until recently, I had three teenagers at home and the only food we couldn't seem to keep enough of in the fridge was milk. If this ladys kids eat three-egg omelets as after-school-snacks it's her own fault for allowing them to do that.

I am with you (Betz) on this, I would cry at the market checkout line too, with their eating habits.... WOW;)

I go through certain items at different times, this women need to gets a grip..... LOL

But I was in sticker shock when the price went from 99 cents a dozen to over $2..... Egg salad sandwiches are so yummy but not worth that...:P To the prices going up, with eggs and GAS.....:P :P

Re:Egg prices crack budgets

Posted by iceman - 2008/03/24 19:32

3 egg omelet...for a snack?! These have gotta be some well fed kids! Maybe a good time to think about DIET...give them an apple, that'll shut 'em up to dinner time.

Re:Egg prices crack budgets

Posted by Betz - 2008/03/24 20:03

iceman wrote:

3 egg omelet...for a snack?! These have gotta be some well fed kids! Maybe a good time to think about DIET...give them an apple, that'll shut 'em up to dinner time.

Yeah, I wondered what these kids look like if that is what they consider a snack.

Re:Egg prices crack budgets

Posted by Just Reading - 2008/03/24 20:08

Betz wrote:

iceman wrote:

3 egg omelet...for a snack?! These have gotta be some well fed kids! Maybe a good time to think about DIET...give them an apple, that'll shut 'em up to dinner time.

Yeah, I wondered what these kids look like if that is what they consider a snack.

Maybe like this:

<http://img147.imageshack.us/img147/5179/homerfatpride1gt.jpg>

or this:

<http://www.goingfaster.com/darkthoughts/peter.jpg>

Re:Egg prices crack budgets

Posted by Betz - 2008/03/24 21:12

Just Reading wrote:

Betz wrote:

iceman wrote:

3 egg omelet...for a snack?! These have gotta be some well fed kids! Maybe a good time to think about DIET...give them an apple, that'll shut 'em up to dinner time.

Yeah, I wondered what these kids look like if that is what they consider a snack.

Maybe like this:

<http://img147.imageshack.us/img147/5179/homerfatpride1gt.jpg>

or this:

<http://www.goingfaster.com/darkthoughts/peter.jpg>

lol :laugh:

=====