
How do I check my PMs?

Posted by CivilGirl - 2008/03/12 13:27

How do I check my private messages? I wrote a PM to someone just now, but I don't see anything like a sent folder or an inbox. I consider myself to be fairly well-versed on message boards, so this is embarrassing.

Never mind. I found the 'ePeople' tab at the top.

Don't feel embarrassed Civil Girl.
This new forum format is fairly complicated.

I find myself puzzling over things, and as a result, learning something new every day.;

I run phpb3 on my forum, which I like a lot. Fireboard is decent in that it is easier to add modifications to the board, since it has that built in. In PHPBB, the modifications have to be made at the code level. It's more granular, but it also allows for more flexibility over all, IMHO.

How do I check my PMS?

Well, it usually comes around once a month and you get really crabby and impossible to live with. Usually that is a good indicator that you've got it.

Well, if you are married...no need to check, your husband will tell you. Or if you are guy with 4 daughters...and a wife, you plan your business and hunting trips around the female cyclic calendar. The more that leave home, the more I can cut back on trips.
