You mean Preisdent Osama. This Chicago street corner punk is the Manchurian Candidate of the Caliphate!

Come this fall, Osama Obama will take only the Washington DC electoral votes. It'll be a clean 50 state sweep for a real American hero.

Raymond, either McSame is senile or can't keep his lies straight. Which do you think? The Republican'ts have no chance in either Congress or the White House.....

In separate phone interviews, Bradley Whitford and Richard Schiff -- both of whom starred in the television political drama "The West Wing" -- said the senator made the remarks after he spoke at length about his reservations about Bush becoming president. Liberal blogger Arianna Huffington first wrote about the incident Monday, asserting neither McCain nor his wife Cindy backed Bush in his first presidential bid, and the Los Angeles Times reported Wednesday that a woman who was also at the dinner confirmed Huffington's account, though she declined to give her name. ...

"He was going on and on about how horribly unqualified and untested Bush was, how the campaign had attacked his family," said Whitford, a registered Democrat. "Someone said, 'If he's so terrible, why did you support him?'"

McCain replied that as a member of the GOP, Whitford added, he always intended to back the party's nominee. Then, the actor said, someone asked McCain whether he had cast a vote in favor of Bush.

"He put his finger up to his lips, shook his head and mouthed, 'No way,'" Whitford said.

The Los Angeles Times talked to another source from the party on Wednesday that also corroborated Arianna's account:

Another woman who attended the 2001 dinner said Tuesday that Cindy McCain had told her she could not bring herself to vote for Bush. The source said she did not want to be identified, so as not to alienate the McCains.

Funny (and ironic) you should mention The Manchurian Candiate, Ray. You must heave heard it on Rush. The book is way, way beyond you. :laugh:

Do you know what the basic story line is? Prisoner of war brainwashed by his captors as a "sleeper agent", then let go and sent back to the U.S. as a pawn in a plot to overthrow the government.

Hmmmm.

Come this fall, Osama Obama will take only the Washington DC electoral votes. It'll be a clean 50 state sweep for a real American hero.
He'll do just fine, Ray. Hint: He'll be President Obama. McCain will be an old man. The Democratic Party, in every state, is not having record numbers of people register as Democrats for nothing. And have you checked the poll numbers on the war debacle in Iraq lately, Ray? ;)

Ah, I am a Democrat, so let's see how accurate you are.

Gun control: Mandatory registration and thorough background checks for all, but I don't forbid folks having weapons, even assault rifles. Only a dimwitted fool would not want registration and background checks with all the nuts running around.

Death penalty: All for it in cases where it is warranted, i.e. aggravated or capital murder.

Gay marriage: A matter of semantics. Marriage is between a man and woman. I do, however, favor civil unions for gays with the same legal benefits of marriage.

Abortion: Hate it. Should only be used in the case of rape, incest, or when a mother's life is in danger. I believe women who become pregnant and don't want the child should have it and place it for adoption. However, it is not a legislative issue at present. The Supreme Court has previously given the OK, and until that changes, that's the way it is.

Gee, Woody. You did not do very well.:laugh: Tell me, though, how you can be against abortion and then not give a damn about kids with no health insurance?

No, I think I'd be better off pointing out to Hillary's "constituency" that anyone who can loan their campaign 11 million dollars is probably not really one of them.

I'm a hard-working white person, 65, Vietnam combat vet and I'm bitter. Bitter at what Washington has been allowed to do to our good name. Bitter also that the Clintons are successful in driving a wedge between whites and blacks. But they won't drive a wedge between you and me, Woody. I like what Obama says about getting all of us to concentrate on how we are alike, not different. The man is honest. That doesn't necessarily make a good politician but I like him and for the first time in my life, I'm contributing to a political campaign.

Take care, Woody.

Look, Barack Osama thinks he can win by getting welfare sucking minorities and rich Hollywood gay backing liberals to vote for him. Plus the nation of Islam. Trouble is America is still made up of white, Christian Americans who back the President in their hearts even if the liberal pollsters twist their data to make it look like Bush is hated. Bush is hated only in the newsrooms of America. In the living rooms of America he is secretly loved and respected as the man who kept us safe Doesn't it make more sense that this is a rumor created by his detractors?

There are still 7-10% of people who believe he is a Muslim. That's a lot of uninformed people. That's how we got two terms of the drunken frat boy, George Bush.

Here's an article that goes into those misconceptions and traces their origins to the right wing blogosphere...people like our own RushReader and Raymond. Gee, what a surprise.

He's a Muslim. He was sworn into office on the Koran. He doesn't say the Pledge of Allegiance. His pastor is an anti-Semite. He's a tool of Louis Farrakhan. He's anti-Israel. His advisers are anti-Israel. He's friends with terrorists. The terrorists want him to win. He's the Antichrist.

By now you've probably seen at least some of these e-mails and articles about Barack Obama bouncing around the Internet. They distort Obama's religious faith, question his support for Israel, warp the identity and positions of his campaign advisers and defame his friends and allies from Chicago. The purpose of the smear is to paint him as an Arab-loving, Israel-hating, terrorist-coddling, radical black nationalist. That picture couldn't be further from the truth, but you'd be surprised how many people have fallen for it...

...We may not know who started the smears, but we do know who's amplifying them. The "Obama is a Muslim" rumor began in the fringe conservative blogosphere. "Barack Hussein Obama: Once a Muslim, Always a Muslim," blogger Debbie Schlüssel wrote on December 18, 2006. Schlüssel had a history of inflammatory rhetoric and baseless accusations. She said journalist Jill Carroll, who was kidnapped by Iraqi insurgents in 2006, "hates America" and "hates Israel"; labeled George Soros a "fake Holocaust survivor"; and speculated that Pakistani terrorists were somehow to blame for last year's shootings at Virginia Tech...

...The attacks on Obama reek of racism and Islamophobia but, as John Kerry learned in 2004, any Democrat should expect such treatment. "If Moses was the Democratic nominee, he'd still be the victim of this hate mail," says Doug Bloomfield, a former legislative director for AIPAC. The right-wing smear machine grinds on, with the mainstream media and rival campaigns lending a helping hand.

<http://www.thenation.com/doc/20080331/berman>

In fact, we saw a version of the "terrorists want him to win" smear just a few days ago, from none other John "McBush" McCain himself. The guy whose wife said he would not resort to negative tactics.

So much for not going negative.

My, my, my. Trouble brewing in neo-conville. The evangelicals are starting to bolt. And you'll never guess where some are bolting to. :laugh:

Michael Dudley is the son of a preacher man.

He's a born-again Christian with two family members in the military. He grew up in the Bible Belt, where almost everyone he knew was Republican. But this fall, he's breaking a handful of stereotypes: He plans to vote for Democrat Barack Obama.

"I think a lot of Christians are having trouble getting behind everything the Republicans stand for," said Dudley, 20, a sophomore at Seattle Pacific University.

Dudley's disenchantment with the GOP isn't unique among young, devoutly Christian voters. According to a September 2007 survey by the Pew Forum on Religion & Public Life, 15 percent of white evangelicals between 18 and 29, a group traditionally a shoo-in for the GOP, say they no longer identify with the Republican Party. Older evangelicals are also questioning their traditional allegiance, but not at the same rate...

Trouble is America is still made up of white, Christian Americans who back the President in their hearts even if the liberal pollsters twist their data to make it look like Bush is hated. Bush is hated only in the newsrooms of America. In the living rooms of America he is secretly loved and respected as the man who kept us safe after 9/11 (any attacks you asses?) and has taken the fight to the muslims of Iraq to rid them of Saddam and Chemical Ali and Saddam's murderous sons. White Christian America will elect McCain and no amount of liberal lies will stop it.

Another secret liberal double agent.

You don't fool anybody, Raymond. Quit trying to get votes for the liberal side by pretending to be a wingnut!

Whatever florida boy, isn't there some place you can post info about the latest south beach alternative lifestyle hangout instead of spreading your filth here?

grow up Ray, Eric is a good man. He fought for his country, what about you?

You don't have to fight for your country to be a patriot, ass. That is a false assumption these "vets" say when they turn liberal. I am a patriot because I pay taxes to pay for M1 tanks, and Nimitz carriers and hashbrowns and boots for the VOLUNTEERS IN IRAQ.

Raymond, this is the beginning of the 21st Century, not the 20th Century. AND, not all of those "white Christians" vote the same. You need a reality check.

Crashing jets does not add up to a lot of worthwhile military experience Ray.

If you are proud of the Liar and Chief then by all means vote for McSame. Even the minority opinion should be heard at election time.

PS... If you want to send your children and grandchildren off to your patriotic events I call wars then be sure to tell them ahead of time so they can get their affairs in order.

Guess you've not read at DailyKos.com or where ever you get your liberal "news" that the surge in Iraq is the greatest military sucess we've had since the first Gulf War and that we killing the muslims right and left and al-Sadr is a weak ass pansy.

If Raymond could have had Coulter for a drill sgt., he'd have been career military.

Nothing quite like self-declared bona fides, Raymond. Maybe you could get Dumbya to give you a positive karma point

You ever even been in uniform Raymond? I didn't think so. Why don't you go back to fantasizing about Ann Coulter in leather with her whip, punishing you and saying "crawl before me you white Christian American B#@&h" :woohoo:

How many years did Obama bin Laden serve in the Navy? Or ROTC avoider Clinton? Or Hillary? McCain has military exp hands down and will hand Obama bin Laden his walking papers come this November. That is if you really value military exp like you say.

Something happens to liberal vets like McGovern and Kerry. They turn anti-war pansies. Then you liberal dare to ask me how many years I served in the military? Well, I've never been on welfare and have paid taxes since '73 so my bonafides as a American patriot go unquestioned, how about that Apostate?

Ya know there are no Apostates on the Death Bed before Jesus.

Admit it you would love nothing more than to be made into Ann Coulter's housemaid. Are you ready to be spanked by her? http://www.heraldextra.com/images/fbfiles/images/Blowing_Chunks-c35e08ba896885fd30ff7e4a0bd5e0f.gif<http://www.heraldextra.com/images/fbfiles/images/Spank.gif>

Better to be spanked by her than EricMiami, or so I heard about you and him. :laugh:

Next you'll be posting that picture of that morbidly obese boy friend of yours again.

Is that what your "opinion" has come down to? Calling each other little 3rd grade names? Calling each other gay, like children who don't even know what the word gay means, they just know its something that you say when you want to make someone feel small. What a joke this forum has become for some of you people...

"anti-war pansies?" I'd call you a poster pansy, Raymond, but I wouldn't want to get on your bad side.

Or your good side.

Some of my best friends are Raymonds. But I wouldn't want my daughter marrying one.

Eric, was that comment for me? If so I will be on the red eye flight tonight and we are going to "talk" in the morning:)

Sorry, all the red-eye flights are sold out for weeks. Check back when you've had a chance to cool off. Besides, it's almost the rainy season and the mosquitoes are getting bad.

You have any beautiful picture of mosquitoes?

No, I don't. My wife likes to take macros of flowers with bugs in them. I am concentrating on landscapes lately.

Say "President Obama" Woody. Get used to the sound. After a year or two, you will admit that I was right.

I have told you before, I will support anyone who is our president, but I will never admit you were right photoman...:)

I'm sorry I guess I've been slumming lately. No more responding to Bishop Kent. :blush:
