
Public log 5/13

Posted by Aud - 2008/05/13 17:45

This thread discusses the Content article: Public log 5/13

I just want to say that whoever writes this really needs to check their facts before they write an article. I witnessed the second story (The Hit and Run from Spanish Fork) and that's not what happened. He isn't even from Spanish Fork. I would appreciate if the writers could get the facts right next time.

=====

Re:Public log 5/13

Posted by Just Reading - 2008/05/13 18:20

Aud wrote:

This thread discusses the Content article: Public log 5/13

I just want to say that whoever writes this really needs to check their facts before they write an article. I witnessed the second story (The Hit and Run from Spanish Fork) and that's not what happened. He isn't even from Spanish Fork. I would appreciate if the writers could get the facts right next time.

"Yep" you are right, Mr. Mark(poopy pants)Campbell is from Orem...

<http://www.co.utah.ut.us/jphtoz/214/214327.jpg>

=====

Re:Public log 5/13

Posted by Uncle_Bud - 2008/05/13 19:52

Just Reading wrote:

Aud wrote:

This thread discusses the Content article: Public log 5/13

I just want to say that whoever writes this really needs to check their facts before they write an article. I witnessed the second story (The Hit and Run from Spanish Fork) and that's not what happened. He isn't even from Spanish Fork. I would appreciate if the writers could get the facts right next time.

"Yep" you are right, Mr. Mark(poopy pants)Campbell is from Orem...

<http://www.co.utah.ut.us/jphtoz/214/214327.jpg>

And now the whole world knows that he needs a diaper!

=====

Re:Public log 5/13

Posted by Aud - 2008/05/13 20:02

Hey why don't you be considerate? That's my dad you're making fun of. Maybe you should try thinking of other's before you speak. How do you know that that's even correct? The rest of the story isn't even true. Go mind your own business.

=====

Re:Public log 5/13

Posted by mykidsgramma - 2008/05/13 20:25

Aud, I have tried explaining here that one should not believe half of what they read or hear in the news. It is by a reporter that got the story second hand, third hand, and so on down the line. Then, they write what they remember and always with their own slant.

If you dad did indeed have an unpleasant incontinent accident, I feel badly for him that they printed that! Very thoughtless and inconsiderate. I might also add that when some one is in an accident or under extreme stress, those type of accidents are very common.

I don't condone drinking and driving, but I do hope things work out well for you and your family.

Re:Public log 5/13

Posted by Aud - 2008/05/13 20:36

Thank you. I most definitely don't condone drinking and driving either. But people make mistakes and we have to fix them. That doesn't give people the right to say whatever they want about it. Thanks for your input. I appreciate your kindness.

Re:Public log 5/13

Posted by Just Reading - 2008/05/13 21:12

Aud wrote:

Hey why don't you be considerate? That's my dad you're making fun of. Maybe you should try thinking of other's before you speak. How do you know that that's even correct? The rest of the story isn't even true. Go mind your own business.

Ok Aud, since you are the child of this man, I will stop making fun of him I was trying to make jokes about this instead of showing my anger,
But now I will say what I should have OK...

first off "BE CONSIDERATE" tell me something just how considerate do you think your father was being as he drove his drunk butt down the street my children and friends and family were on???

second you say the story isn't true then tell us the story if you know it...

which parts are not true, is the part that he hit another car not true?? because he was charged with LEAVING SCENE ACCIDENT!!!

how about the part that he was so intoxicated when officers pulled him over that he wet and soiled himself?? is this part not true, because the officers I've talked too say he did and was that intoxicated.....and he was charged with a DUI maybe it's the part that he refused to pull over for officers.... well he was charged with EVADING well so far Aud the only thing I can find that they have wrong is that he is from Orem not Spanish Fork..

Well do you have anything else..???

now third "Go mind your own business"...!!!

Well Aud for your information your father made it my business and everyones else's business when he endangered the lives of my children, friends and family and others driving drunk off his butt...

now do you like that better then joking around and trying to not show how angry I am at his stupidity and inconsiderate behavior....

Re:Public log 5/13

Posted by KitKat - 2008/05/13 21:16

Aud wrote:

Thank you. I most definitely don't condone drinking and driving either. But people make mistakes and we have to fix them. That doesn't give people the right to say whatever they want about it. Thanks for your input. I appreciate your kindness.

Well, Aud, you are the one who started this thread. You are the one who brought this to our attention. In all the time I've been on this forum, I don't recall comments being made about the Public Log. Maybe once, or twice, perhaps.

If this had of been my dad, NO WAY would I have started this thread. I would have been too embarrassed!!

=====

Re:Public log 5/13

Posted by Just Reading - 2008/05/13 21:26

P.S. also if you witnessed this as you say, does this mean that you were in the car with your father??

If so. that pisses me off even more, he should have been charged with that also....

=====

Re:Public log 5/13

Posted by Girl Raised in the South - 2008/05/13 21:48

Just Reading wrote:

P.S. also if you witnessed this as you say, does this mean that you were in the car with your father??

If so. that pisses me off even more, he should have been charged with that also....

I was thinking that also, Just Reading. . .Were you in the car with your dad, Aud? How old are you? Why didn't you call someone to come pick up you and your dad instead of letting him drive? If you're old enough, why didn't you drive? There is just no excuse for drunk driving. Luckily, the only thing to "fix" is your dad and not a shattered family because he killed someone while playing Russian roulette.

Do your dad a favor, Aud. . . Don't ask anyone to have compassion for him. It's tough love time for Dad. Hopefully, he'll recognize his problem, and get some serious help before he kills you, someone in your family, or another family's loved one.

=====

Re:Public log 5/13

Posted by Aud - 2008/05/13 23:19

I agree with you. I wasn't asking you to be considerate for my dad, I was asking you to be considerate of our family. This is hard enough without people like you. I actually do appreciate this more than joking around and I agree that my dad was being stupid. He knows better.

=====

Re:Public log 5/13

Posted by Aud - 2008/05/13 23:20

I'm not embarrassed by my dad's actions as they are not mine.

=====

Re:Public log 5/13

Posted by Aud - 2008/05/13 23:22

I wasn't in the car with him. I'm not stupid enough to let him drive off like that. Again, I'm not asking you to have compassion for him. I'm asking for consideration for my family. We sure didn't choose for this to happen to us.

=====

Re:Public log 5/13

Posted by Girl Raised in the South - 2008/05/14 06:10

Aud wrote:

I wasn't in the car with him. I'm not stupid enough to let him drive off like that. Again, I'm not asking you to have compassion for him. I'm asking for consideration for my family. We sure didn't choose for this to happen to us.

I'm confused, Aud. You say you were a witness. Please explain. Without an explanation, some of us may be thinking, "Why didn't Aud stop him or get some help (calling the police) when he drove off?"

We certainly do have consideration for your family. . .We are thankful none of you were hurt or killed. However, we would like your dad to have consideration for us and our families by not doing this again.

=====

Re:Public log 5/13

Posted by Dubbs - 2008/05/14 07:33

Aud wrote:

I'm not embarrassed by my dad's actions as they are not mine.

uhh, you should be, that was incredibly embarrassing situation, and you brought it to even more peoples attention, as I didn't even know about it before YOUR post. As well as one of the most stupid and selfish things a person can do, drink and drive and put innocent people at risk.

=====

Re:Public log 5/13

Posted by Powhound - 2008/05/14 08:21

I have one suggestion for you...DEPENDS FOR MEN!

=====

Re:Public log 5/13

Posted by Uncle_Bud - 2008/05/14 10:07

Powhound wrote:

I have one suggestion for you...DEPENDS FOR MEN!

That's one scary mug shot. Didn't they let him change his shorts before they took the pic?

=====