
Lindon opens police department

Posted by rblundg - 2008/07/02 08:29

This thread discusses the Content article: Lindon opens police department

On June the 3 I found my son smoking heroin in my house. I took the package he had that had 4 1/2 balloons left & told him he had 2 weeks to get out of the house. The next day I called Lindon City (where I live) & asked to talk to Mr Cullimore & the lady transferred me to his phone. He did not answer so I left him a voice message telling him what I had found & that I had some information on where I felt there was drug selling activity going on in our community. I had been doing some of my own checking because I knew he was using & I was very close to kicking him out before I caught him smoking. I was in hopes of getting him caught & arrested & put in jail in hopes of him having a wake up call. I wasnt sure what day the Lindon Police were to take over but I have known Mr Cullimore for a long time & thought he could give me some advice of where to go with the info.

On June 21st my son attempted suicide 3 days after I kicked him out of my house.

I want to thank Mr Cullimore for his non response to my call. I guess I am not high enough on his list to even get a response from him or a sec. All of his comments about how he wants to help our community & work with the people of the community is all just BULL.

I sure hope this isnt an indication of things to come. I was very glad Lindon was getting there own police force especially because I knew Cody & thought he was the man to do the job but now I wonder. Maybe we should have stuck to Pleasant Grove.

I do want to thank the Pleasant Grove police dept. for there response.

=====

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by The Keeper - 2008/07/02 08:50

rblundg wrote:

This thread discusses the Content article: Lindon opens police department

On June the 3 I found my son smoking heroin in my house. I took the package he had that had 4 1/2 balloons left & told him he had 2 weeks to get out of the house. The next day I called Lindon City (where I live) & asked to talk to Mr Cullimore & the lady transferred me to his phone. He did not answer so I left him a voice message telling him what I had found & that I had some information on where I felt there was drug selling activity going on in our community. I had been doing some of my own checking because I knew he was using & I was very close to kicking him out before I caught him smoking. I was in hopes of getting him caught & arrested & put in jail in hopes of him having a wake up call. I wasnt sure what day the Lindon Police were to take over but I have known Mr Cullimore for a long time & thought he could give me some advice of where to go with the info.

On June 21st my son attempted suicide 3 days after I kicked him out of my house.

I want to thank Mr Cullimore for his non response to my call. I guess I am not high enough on his list to even get a response from him or a sec. All of his comments about how he wants to help our community & work with the people of the community is all just BULL.

I sure hope this isnt an indication of things to come. I was very glad Lindon was getting there own police force especially because I knew Cody & thought he was the man to do the job but now I wonder. Maybe we should have stuck to Pleasant Grove.

I do want to thank the Pleasant Grove police dept. for there response.

Hope you explained to your kid that buying CIA Afghan 'white' is not really supporting his country!

=====

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by iceman - 2008/07/02 10:25

rblundg wrote:

This thread discusses the Content article: Lindon opens police department

On June the 3 I found my son smoking heroin in my house. I took the package he had that had 4 1/2 balloons left & told him he had 2 weeks to get out of the house. The next day I called Lindon City (where I live) & asked to talk to Mr Cullimore & the lady transferred me to his phone. He did not answer so I left him a voice message telling him what I had found & that I had some information on where I felt there was drug selling activity going on in our community. I had been doing some of my own checking because I knew he was using & I was very close to kicking him out before I caught him smoking. I was in hopes of getting him caught & arrested & put in jail in hopes of him having a wake up call.

I wasn't sure what day the Lindon Police were to take over but I have known Mr Cullimore for a long time & thought he could give me some advice of where to go with the info.

On June 21st my son attempted suicide 3 days after I kicked him out of my house.

I want to thank Mr Cullimore for his non response to my call. I guess I am not high enough on his list to even get a response from him or a sec. All of his comments about how he wants to help our community & work with the people of the community is all just BULL.

I sure hope this isn't an indication of things to come. I was very glad Lindon was getting their own police force especially because I knew Cody & thought he was the man to do the job but now I wonder. Maybe we should have stuck to Pleasant Grove.

I do want to thank the Pleasant Grove police dept. for their response.

Well, here we go...another parent wanting the police to raise their kids. Just because you "know" a chief, doesn't mean his priorities (ie-opening up a new police department) puts you on the top of his list...did you bother to go to his office? Did you make a follow up call (sometimes messages left on machines don't make it to the recipient, particularly new, untried systems). In short, you appear ready to bash this new department because of your own inadequacies as a parent.

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by rblundg - 2008/07/02 10:55

Hey jerk. I was not asking for any special favors just to get another druggie off the street whether it be my son or somebody else's son. I had information to give them as to drug dealings going on in our community & to get them arrested. My son along with the dealers..... I didn't know that was asking for favors just asking a public servant to do his damn job. It only takes 5 min. to make a return phone call or have a subordinate make it for him.

I am so glad to hear you are the perfect parent. I would not choose this hell hole for anybody including a jerk like you. I know people with children from good parents who are in the same position I am in some protecting their kids some doing what I am doing trying to get them off the streets along with their drug buddies. So hide behind your computer with your faceless remarks. You are a big man.

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by iceman - 2008/07/02 15:27

rblundg wrote:

Hey jerk. I was not asking for any special favors just to get another druggie off the street whether it be my son or somebody else's son. I had information to give them as to drug dealings going on in our community & to get them arrested. My son along with the dealers..... I didn't know that was asking for favors just asking a public servant to do his damn job. It only takes 5 min. to make a return phone call or have a subordinate make it for him.

I am so glad to hear you are the perfect parent. I would not choose this hell hole for anybody including a jerk like you. I know people with children from good parents who are in the same position I am in some protecting their kids some doing what I am doing trying to get them off the streets along with their drug buddies. So hide behind your computer with your faceless remarks. You are a big man.

And you did what to help your son...take him to a treatment center? Nope..kicked him out the house and went whining to the police. AS far as reporting drug dealers...did you bother to call the County Major Crimes unit...the guys that actually go after drug dealers in Utah county...nope, you just whine when a new department, which hadn't even opened its doors yet, doesn't take five minutes to call you back...at least that is what you claim.

And getting back to parenting...there are usually signs a child has got a problem...did you spend anytime with yours? This is all a big surprise to you? Maybe if you had put the remote control away, got out of your lazy boy recliner, and spent time with your kid, he may not have a problem today.

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by rblundg - 2008/07/02 18:16

Again Jerk. Mr Perfect parent. I don't have a recliner I do not spend time watching much if any tv (or playing on computers like you)

I have had my kids in the wilderness on many trip fishing hunting Disneyland Yellowstone Overnight trips with just me & them all that you accuse me of yes I have done. It is really easy when your a bucket ass kid like you that probably has one little 2 yr old kid & that he has only begun to raise & has no idea of what lies out there dirt bag. I coached all of my boys every year in basketball baseball you name it I did it One on one with each.

I have been working with him for 4 yrs & it just shows how stupid you people here in happy valley are. If they dont want to change no amount of money or therapy will change them. Yes I have had him in a detox I have spent time with him crying wondering why do you do this to me your & your family.

Also stupid that is why I called the Police to get information. Where should I go. Try & look up the # for the Major Crime task force in the phone book. Not there but I didnt give up I sat down on the computer & researched it & found out there # & called them & guess what I left them a message & guess what they called me & I bet they are no less busy than Mr Cullimore in fact I got 2 calls from them but some of the info I had was no longer anygood because he lost his job where the dealing was going on but they still took the info & will try & get somewhere with it.

This isnt my first rodeo jerk. I been down this road so when you get done with your 2 yr old & have him or her raised get in touch with me & lets see how well you did keeping these scabs away.

It sure is easy to point fingers about things you know nothing about. By the way he is 26 yrs old how long am I suppose to play this silly ass game of drugs. I have been told many time to kick him out of the house by people that are well educated & deal with this on a daily basis not just some HAPPY VALLEY JERK like you Mr perfect parent.

=====

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by iceman - 2008/07/02 21:10

rblundg wrote:

Again Jerk. Mr Prefect parent. I dont have a recliner I do not spend time watching much if any tv (or playing on computers like you)

I have had my kids in the wilderness on many trip fishing hunting Disneyland Yellowstone Overnight trips with just me & them all that you accuse me of yes I have done. It is really easy when your a bucket ass kid like you that probably has one little 2 yr old kid & that he has only begun to raise & has no idea of what lies out there dirt bag. I coached all of my boys every year in basketball baseball you name it I did it One on one with each.

I have been working with him for 4 yrs & it just shows how stupid you people here in happy valley are. If they dont want to change no amount of money or therapy will change them. Yes I have had him in a detox I have spent time with him crying wondering why do you do this to me your & your family.

Also stupid that is why I called the Police to get information. Where should I go. Try & look up the # for the Major Crime task force in the phone book. Not there but I didnt give up I sat down on the computer & researched it & found out there # & called them & guess what I left them a message & guess what they called me & I bet they are no less busy than Mr Cullimore in fact I got 2 calls from them but some of the info I had was no longer anygood because he lost his job where the dealing was going on but they still took the info & will try & get somewhere with it.

This isnt my first rodeo jerk. I been down this road so when you get done with your 2 yr old & have him or her raised get in touch with me & lets see how well you did keeping these scabs away.

It sure is easy to point fingers about things you know nothing about. By the way he is 26 yrs old how long am I suppose to play this silly ass game of drugs. I have been told many time to kick him out of the house by people that are well educated & deal with this on a daily basis not just some HAPPY VALLEY JERK like you Mr perfect parent.

With your juvenile language, perhaps I understand where your child developed his drug dependancy. A parent like you, who shoots off his mouth would put any kid to into a drug induced stupor to escape your inane ramblings. Then again since you were a rodeo clown, perhaps one too many hits by a bolvine could have liquified your cerebellum.

=====

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by tstaheli - 2008/07/02 21:46

I am sorry you are going through this with your child! but you need to stop blaming the Lindon police you yourself said that you didn't know if they were up and running yet and even if they were like the other person pointed out new phone system and they are not always easy to work I am sure your message was not flat out ignored if it was herd. (sorry I become slightly defensive my husband was a cop and if you only knew what they haveto go through just for the public to bash them)

The next thing is (and I am saying this because my aunt is going through a horrific drug situation with her son) maybe the best thing to do is kick him out and walk away for now. I know you haveto love your child by everything you have posted but they are 26 and they know that you will save them (from the sounds of it) You said in frist post that you want them to get a dose of reality the best dose is not jail it is not having mom and dad to go home to. My cousin has been in jail a bunch on drug charges and if anything he learns were the better dealers are and how to get the drugs easier. I cannot begin to imagin how hard it will be to kick them out but that is reality. Like I said before I am so Sorry you are going through this.

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by rblundg - 2008/07/02 23:46

Okay Mr Iceman with 4956 post lets talk about who should put the remote down or in your case the keyboard. Its all coming to light now.

I guess I was a little to harsh on you Mr Perfect parent but when somebody tries to call my parenting skills in question really burns me after all I have tried to do especially coming from a still wet behind the ears (I bet you arent even a day over 20) kid trying to tell me how to be a parent.

I got a fresh 100 dollar bill in my wallet thats yours if you can show me what youve raised beside the little puppy dog on your lap. Your just a little troll that has nothing else to do all day but sit on line & badger people. Thats okay I can deal with that. I can help you with your welfare check with an additional $100. Tell all about your parenting skill (or lack there of) maybe it was your dad who wouldnt put the remote down & give you the attention you needed so instead you turned to the internet where you dont have to reveal your pathetic little self & you can hide behind a keyboard. I bet you cannot even be married with that much devotion to a keyboard. 4956 wow that is really quite an accomplishment I bet your kids (oops I forgot you dont have any) but I guess the lap dog can be proud of you.

I am not blaming anybody for my sons mistakes especially the police I just expect some kind of a response from them when I have criminal activity going on I know about & needs to be addressed.

It was very frustrating to see it going on & I cannot get a response from our police department.

I also contrary to what you may think have a great deal of respect for our officers on the street they put there lives on the line everyday for us & most times do not get the respect they deserve.

staheli thanks I appreciate your comments it is very hard to go through something like this & when you try & reach out for help & do not get it it makes it even worse. I have seen the Lindon police around & there new trucks but just a phone call that states were not ready yet call PG or the major crime task force or somebody. He is on the Lindon pay roll now & has been for several months.

I will even go as far to say Mr Cullimore may be a good even great Police Chief but he really blew this bad in my view. I know I am just a small fish in a big ocean but I feel I had a big fish that needed to be caught.

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by Blondie - 2008/07/03 00:36

rblundg wrote:

Okay Mr Iceman with 4956 post lets talk about who should put the remote down or in your case the keyboard. Its all coming to light now.

I guess I was a little to harsh on you Mr Perfect parent but when somebody tries to call my parenting skills in question really burns me after all I have tried to do especially coming from a still wet behind the ears (I bet you arent even a day over 20) kid trying to tell me how to be a parent.

I got a fresh 100 dollar bill in my wallet thats yours if you can show me what youve raised beside the little puppy dog on your lap. Your just a little troll that has nothing else to do all day but sit on line & badger people. Thats okay I can deal with that. I can help you with your welfare check with an additional $100. Tell all about your parenting skill (or lack there of) maybe it was your dad who wouldnt put the remote down & give you the attention you needed so instead you turned to the internet where you dont have to reveal your pathetic little self & you can hide behind a keyboard. I bet you cannot even be married with that much devotion to a keyboard. 4956 wow that is really quite an accomplishment I bet your kids

(oops I forgot you dont have any) but I guess the lap dog can be proud of you.

I am not blaming anybody for my sons mistakes especially the police I just expect some kind of a response from them when I have criminal activity going on I know about & needs to be addressed.

It was very frustrating to see it going on & I cannot get a response from our police department.

I also contrary to what you may think have a great deal of respect for our officers on the street they put there lives on the line everyday for us & most times do not get the respect they deserve.

tstaheli thanks I appreciate your comments it is very hard to go through something like this & when you try & reach out for help & do not get it it makes it even worse. I have seen the Lindon police around & there new trucks but just a phone call that states were not ready yet call PG or the major crime task force or somebody. He is on the Lindon pay roll now & has been for several months.

I will even go as far to say Mr Cullimore may be a good even great Police Chief but he really blew this bad in my view. I know I am just a small fish in a big ocean but I feel I had a big fish that needed to be caught.

FYI:

Iceman has been on this forum for sometime, hence the larger amounts of posts than you, and since you do not know anything about him or what he does for a living WHY ARE you being JERK?????....

You have been a jerk on these posts. Do you NOT know how to phone the sheriff' office, the county drug force, PG Police? You sound like you ONLY wanted to make a fuss about the Lindon Police Dept. Yes, you are a small fish, but people like you can make a difference, BUT you are going about it in the wrong way. GROW UP yourself and then maybe you can help your 26 year old CHILD get help. Good Luck with your efforts. JMO

=====

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by woody - 2008/07/03 02:51

rblundg wrote:

Okay Mr Iceman with 4956 post lets talk about who should put the remote down or in your case the keyboard. Its all coming to light now.

I guess I was a little to harsh on you Mr Perfect parent but when somebody tries to call my parenting skills in question really burns me after all I have tried to do especially coming from a still wet behind the ears (I bet you arent even a day over 20) kid trying to tell me how to be a parent.

I got a fresh 100 dollar bill in my wallet thats yours if you can show me what youve raised beside the little puppy dog on your lap. Your just a little troll that has nothing else to do all day but sit on line & badger people. Thats okay I can deal with that. I can help you with your welfare check with an additional $100. Tell all about your parenting skill (or lack there of) maybe it was your dad who wouldnt put the remote down & give you the attention you needed so instead you turned to the internet where you dont have to reveal your pathetic little self & you can hide behind a keyboard. I bet you cannot even be married with that much devotion to a keyboard. 4956 wow that is really quite an accomplishment I bet your kids (oops I forgot you dont have any) but I guess the lap dog can be proud of you.

I am not blaming anybody for my sons mistakes especially the police I just expect some kind of a response from them when I have criminal activity going on I know about & needs to be addressed.

It was very frustrating to see it going on & I cannot get a response from our police department.

I also contrary to what you may think have a great deal of respect for our officers on the street they put there lives on the line everyday for us & most times do not get the respect they deserve.

tstaheli thanks I appreciate your comments it is very hard to go through something like this & when you try & reach out for help & do not get it it makes it even worse. I have seen the Lindon police around & there new trucks but just a phone call that states were not ready yet call PG or the major crime task force or somebody. He is on the Lindon pay roll now & has been for several months.

I will even go as far to say Mr Cullimore may be a good even great Police Chief but he really blew this bad in my view. I know I am just a small fish in a big ocean but I feel I had a big fish that needed to be caught.

I can say that you can't help them now at 26. They needed the help at 4,5,6 --15,16,17. I love you, is what they have needed to hear their whole lives---ALL THROUGH THEIR LIVES. Sounds to me like you spent more time trying to make them happy and not enough time making them feel loved. Either he is just one bad kid that cant be helped or you have failed as a parent. Only you can answer that. It is interesting how some people try to be good parents when it toooooo late to be a good parent. And dont go off on me about not knowing. I have seen this with people very close to me and they were wrong too.

=====

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by iceman - 2008/07/03 07:04

woody wrote:

rblundg wrote:

Okay Mr Iceman with 4956 post lets talk about who should put the remote down or in your case the keyboard. Its all coming to light now.

I guess I was a little to harsh on you Mr Perfect parent but when somebody tries to call my parenting skills in question really burns me after all I have tried to do especially coming from a still wet behind the ears (I bet you arent even a day over 20) kid trying to tell me how to be a parent.

I got a fresh 100 dollar bill in my wallet thats yours if you can show me what youve raised beside the little puppy dog on your lap. Your just a little troll that has nothing else to do all day but sit on line & badger people. Thats okay I can deal with that. I can help you with your welfare check with an additional $100. Tell all about your parenting skill (or lack there of) maybe it was your dad who wouldnt put the remote down & give you the attention you needed so instead you turned to the internet where you dont have to reveal your pathetic little self & you can hide behind a keyboard. I bet you cannot even be married with that much devotion to a keyboard. 4956 wow that is really quite an accomplishment I bet your kids (oops I forgot you dont have any) but I guess the lap dog can be proud of you.

I am not blaming anybody for my sons mistakes especially the police I just expect some kind of a response from them when I have criminal activity going on I know about & needs to be addressed.

It was very frustrating to see it going on & I cannot get a response from our police department.

I also contrary to what you may think have a great deal of respect for our officers on the street they put there lives on the line everyday for us & most times do not get the respect they deserve.

staheli thanks I appreciate your comments it is very hard to go through something like this & when you try & reach out for help & do not get it it makes it even worse. I have seen the Lindon police around & there new trucks but just a phone call that states were not ready yet call PG or the major crime task force or somebody. He is on the Lindon pay roll now & has been for several months.

I will even go as far to say Mr Cullimore may be a good even great Police Chief but he really blew this bad in my view. I know I am just a small fish in a big ocean but I feel I had a big fish that needed to be caught.

I can say that you can't help them now at 26. They needed the help at 4,5,6 --15,16,17. I love you, is what they have needed to hear their whole lives---ALL THROUGH THEIR LIVES. Sounds to me like you spent more time trying to make them happy and not enough time making them feel loved. Either he is just one bad kid that cant be helped or you have failed as a parent. Only you can answer that. It is interesting how some people try to be good parents when it toooooo late to be a good parent. And dont go off on me about not knowing. I have seen this with people very close to me and they were wrong too.

Well stated, Woody.

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by iceman - 2008/07/03 07:08

rblundg wrote:

Okay Mr Iceman with 4956 post lets talk about who should put the remote down or in your case the keyboard. Its all coming to light now.

I guess I was a little to harsh on you Mr Perfect parent but when somebody tries to call my parenting skills in question really burns me after all I have tried to do especially coming from a still wet behind the ears (I bet you arent even a day over 20) kid trying to tell me how to be a parent.

I got a fresh 100 dollar bill in my wallet thats yours if you can show me what youve raised beside the little puppy dog on your lap. Your just a little troll that has nothing else to do all day but sit on line & badger people. Thats okay I can deal with that. I can help you with your welfare check with an additional $100. Tell all about your parenting skill (or lack there of) maybe it was your dad who wouldnt put the remote down & give you the attention you needed so instead you turned to the internet where you dont have to reveal your pathetic little self & you can hide behind a keyboard. I bet you cannot even be married with that much devotion to a keyboard. 4956 wow that is really quite an accomplishment I bet your kids

(oops I forgot you dont have any) but I guess the lap dog can be proud of you.

I am not blaming anybody for my sons mistakes especially the police I just expect some kind of a response from them when I have criminal activity going on I know about & needs to be addressed.

It was very frustrating to see it going on & I cannot get a response from our police department.

I also contrary to what you may think have a great deal of respect for our officers on the street they put there lives on the line everyday for us & most times do not get the respect they deserve.

tstaheli thanks I appreciate your comments it is very hard to go through something like this & when you try & reach out for help & do not get it it makes it even worse. I have seen the Lindon police around & there new trucks but just a phone call that states were not ready yet call PG or the major crime task force or somebody. He is on the Lindon pay roll now & has been for several months.

I will even go as far to say Mr Cullimore may be a good even great Police Chief but he really blew this bad in my view. I know I am just a small fish in a big ocean but I feel I had a big fish that needed to be caught.

Look, save your $100 and take your kid out to dinner. Have a one on one night with him, make him feel special, dinner, movie, hell...take him to play paint ball. Spend meaningful time instead of letting him run around with street scum. (BTW 7 kids...31 eldest, 15 youngest).

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by Sir John the Apostate - 2008/07/03 07:34

Anyone heard anything about the Lindon Police Department opening?

http://www.heraldextra.com/images/fbfiles/images/Crazy_eyes-06e8f7a634493347d17da0928cda9b84.gif

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by Pittakos - 2008/07/03 07:35

Why would someone call a police department for help when that particular police department is only in the organizing stage? I'm a retired firefighter/paramedic. I don't know how many times I've been called by neighbors for emergencies before they called 911. It doesn't do any good to call me because I don't have the resources at home to handle those emergencies. I would imagine the same is true for Cody Cullimore. He's been busy acquiring those resources so that he would have a functioning police department by July 1st. Let's give him a chance, now that he is up and running, before judging him and the entire police department. I've had several discussions with him and from what I've heard, Lindon will have a great Police Department responsive and sensitive to Lindon's needs. Welcome aboard, Cody!

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by iceman - 2008/07/03 08:20

Pittakos wrote:

Why would someone call a police department for help when that particular police department is only in the organizing stage? I'm a retired firefighter/paramedic. I don't know how many times I've been called by neighbors for emergencies before they called 911. It doesn't do any good to call me because I don't have the resources at home to handle those emergencies. I would imagine the same is true for Cody Cullimore. He's been busy acquiring those resources so that he would have a functioning police department by July 1st. Let's give him a chance, now that he is up and running, before judging him and the entire police department. I've had several discussions with him and from what I've heard, Lindon will have a great Police Department responsive and sensitive to Lindon's needs. Welcome aboard, Cody!

True that, Pitt MGF. Spoke to Cody about a month ago...up to his neck organizing the new PD, especially fighting with the city council to increase the original 8 officers to 15. Then he was tied up interviewing, testing the new personnel. BTW- Pretty good paint scheme on his patrol vehicles...he's done well.

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by unaffiliated_person - 2008/07/03 08:36

iceman wrote:

Pittakos wrote:

Why would someone call a police department for help when that particular police department is only in the organizing stage? I'm a retired firefighter/paramedic. I don't know how many times I've been called by neighbors for emergencies before they called 911. It doesn't do any good to call me because I don't have the resources at home to handle those emergencies. I would imagine the same is true for Cody Cullimore. He's been busy acquiring those resources so that he would have a functioning police department by July 1st. Let's give him a chance, now that he is up and running, before judging him and the entire police department. I've had several discussions with him and from what I've heard, Lindon will have a great Police Department responsive and sensitive to Lindon's needs. Welcome aboard, Cody!

True that, Pitt MGF. Spoke to Cody about a month ago...up to his neck organizing the new PD, especially fighting with the city council to increase the original 8 officers to 15. Then he was tied up interviewing, testing the new personnel. BTW- Pretty good paint scheme on his patrol vehicles...he's done well.

I am surprised he had to fight for resources. Saratoga Springs opened up a new PD recently and did not have such trouble with budgeting.

=====

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by rblundg - 2008/07/03 15:25

Okay Okay I made a serious mistake. I have been attacked because of my parenting skills but on each one of those attacks I have answered the attacks & done exactly what was said. My kids have had one on one with me they have been told they are loved & my son has even told me I was a good dad & that this is not my fault. I am not going to sit here & defend myself anymore. I am by no means a perfect father but anybody who is a parent will say there are things they did they may change but who gave us a book on how to raise unruly kids in every situation. I did the very best I could with the situation I was in.

I certainly wouldn't call my neighbor because he was a paramedic instead of 911. I called the Lindon City Police Chief to ask for help not for favors just help with getting some criminal activity off the street. I also wanted to know the best way to get rid of 4 plus balloons of heroin. Do I get rid of it down our sewer system & contaminate that what do you do with it. I did not know when the official day was they would take over so why didn't the lady question me on that when I called. She just sent me to his voice mail. I knew he would be busy & didn't expect a call that moment or even the next day just a call even from a secretary saying we are not up to speed yet & Cody is very busy would you please call ??????

I am very sorry. I expected too much.

I just hope each one of you (most of the people making these comments work in public safety I can now see) never have to reach out for help when you need it most but nobody is there. I wouldn't wish this on anybody & unless you have been down this road yourself (not a friend's friend an uncle son whatever) your daughter a son, you have absolutely no room to talk.

This valley has an epidemic with drugs & when you see it first hand like I have & you see the hurt it causes (even to the best parents) to the ones you love you want to do something about it. Not stick your head in the sand & hide I want to get involved & ACT. Even to the point of seeing my own son possibly go to prison if need be. NO FAVORS JUST ACTION. I didn't just stop with Mr. Cullimore I continued making calls (as previously stated) & got some help to get rid of this vermon. I hope but some of it was just too late.

I am sorry & I do mean this if I have offended any public safety person (police paramedic fire whatever) I do have the utmost respect for what you do & face every day.

All I was doing again was asking for some help but I guess I went to the wrong outlet & that is my fault so with that I will say goodbye never to return because I have much more important issues in this life like taking my grandkids fishing this morning than to spend time on a computer. As you can see I never post on this or any forum much because there is so much life to enjoy than to spend it typing on a silly computer to.

So off I go with my tail between my legs which will make you all happy & that is okay with me because I do have so much more that makes me happy & I will go on & grow from this little temper tantrum.. So Good luck to all & I do hope you never never have to ride the roller coaster I have but if you do I want you to remember our conversation & think how I felt & now how you feel.

=====

Re:Lindon opens police department

Posted by tstaheli - 2008/07/03 17:50

I have learned the same lesson if you want to come some were to vent or get help avoid this place at all cost! To answer your question on what to do with the drugs if you still have them call the police dept again and just explain the situation on why you have the drugs they will send a officer out to pick them up (do not be surprised if the bring a drug sniffing dog) They may or may not take a statement and that will be it (we moved into a house and when we went out to our garage found it infested with drugs in the walls in toys it was sick!) Good luck with your situation hope you have fun fishing with your grandkids :)

=====