

---

Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

Posted by Everybody Loves Raymond - 2008/07/17 11:58

---

This thread discusses the Content article: Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

It matters not how much money the Magic Messiah Obama brings in. He is wrong on the issues, the true Americans know this, and will vote accordingly.

=====

Re:Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

Posted by The Keeper - 2008/07/17 12:00

---

Everybody Loves Raymond wrote:

This thread discusses the Content article: Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

It matters not how much money the Magic Messiah Obama brings in. He is wrong on the issues, the true Americans know this, and will vote accordingly.

Your president will be whoever the hacked computerized voting machines tells you he is!

=====

Re:Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

Posted by WaynesWorld - 2008/07/17 19:05

---

The Keeper wrote:

Everybody Loves Raymond wrote:

This thread discusses the Content article: Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

It matters not how much money the Magic Messiah Obama brings in. He is wrong on the issues, the true Americans know this, and will vote accordingly.

Your president will be whoever the hacked computerized voting machines tells you he is!Which raises the question 'who will hack the computerized voting machines'?

=====

Re:Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

Posted by wake_up - 2008/07/18 01:52

---

Obama is putting the money to immediate use!

<http://img527.imageshack.us/img527/9220/obamacokejs1.jpg>

=====

Re:Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

Posted by eric hussein miami - 2008/07/18 06:45

---

The sophistication and intelligence of Rush's paid hacks is really impressive. You are a coward, wake_up.

=====

Re:Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

Posted by truthhurts - 2008/07/18 07:26

---

The fact that McCain supporters like wake_up (if only he or she would) post such trash, while the Obama supporters post no such trash about McCain, just goes to show the difference in the two camps....and in the difference between them as human beings. Regarding wake_up, I use the term "human being" loosely. Very loosely.

---

I don't propose to say that all or even most McCain supporters would do crap like this, nor approve of it, but when one swims in the sewer with the rats, the smell will stick. Such is the state of the GOP. Anything goes to win. Anything. The Karl Rove way.

Oh, BTW, $100 of that $52 million Obama got in June came from little old me, with more to come later. ;)

---

Re:Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

Posted by unaffiliated_person - 2008/07/18 08:28

---

This is revealing. Based upon contribution sources, you can see that the wealthy and corporations are mostly contributing to McCain. Obama's cash mostly comes from the people.

<http://opensecrets.org/pres08/summary.php?cid=N00009638&cycle=2008>

It appears that McCain has been bought by the elite, while Obama is being supported by the people. While I am neither a democrat nor republican, I think the sources for campaign cash speaks volumes about a candidate's motivations and future decision-making.

---

Re:Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

Posted by ThomasK - 2008/07/18 10:02

---

truthhurts wrote:

I don't propose to say that all or even most McCain supporters would do crap like this, nor approve of it, but when one swims in the sewer with the rats, the smell will stick. Such is the state of the GOP. Anything goes to win. Anything.

Talk about doublespeak.

---

Re:Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

Posted by ThomasK - 2008/07/18 10:07

---

unaffiliated_person wrote:

This is revealing. Based upon contribution sources, you can see that the wealthy and corporations are mostly contributing to McCain. Obama's cash mostly comes from the people.

<http://opensecrets.org/pres08/summary.php?cid=N00009638&cycle=2008>

It appears that McCain has been bought by the elite, while Obama is being supported by the people. While I am neither a democrat nor republican, I think the sources for campaign cash speaks volumes about a candidate's motivations and future decision-making.

If you think that either candidate isn't receiving money from the wealthy, your kool aid is spiked.

---

Re:Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

Posted by The Keeper - 2008/07/18 10:39

---

When the globalists want the next four to eight years to emphasize Foreign Affairs, a Republican ascends to the White House; but, when the emphasis is planned to swing to Domestic Affairs, a Democrat goes to the Oval Office.

Obama's 'Big Brother' vanishes from speech: 'Civilian security force' missing from 'call to service' transcript, WorldNetDaily, July 16, 2008

"Democrat Sen. Barack Obama's stunning assertion in a recent speech that the U.S. needs a 'civilian national security force' that would be as powerful, strong and well-funded as the half-trillion dollar Army, Marines, Navy and Air Force is not included in published transcripts of his prepared remarks."

Can you imagine the daring of Senator Obama to actually call for a domestic police force greater than the Gestapo under Adolf Hitler? His call should be a clarion wake-up bell for all Americans, that the "Change" promised for all these last months by the Obama camp is really a change for the worse! Obama's "change" is a change from a Representative Republic to an Absolute Dictatorship!

This statement seems to absolutely shout that the globalist plan is to emphasize Domestic Affairs during the next term of office. Certainly, the next terrorist attack, the dissolution of our Constitution, and the arrest of dissidents represents Domestic Policy.

This statement by Obama certainly solidifies my belief of the last several years that a Democrat will go to the White House in January, 2009.

Finally, Obama's call in this speech for a "call to service" parallels the call by President Bill Clinton in 1996 for a "Community Service" program. This is highly significant because this "call to service" strongly parallels Adolf Hitler's "New Social Consciousness" which led directly to Domestic Dictatorship by 1938!

The New World Order which Presidents Clinton, Bush, and the 44th President are driving this nation into is strongly parallel to Adolf Hitler's New World Order.

Whether it is Republican McCain or Democrat Obama that goes to the White House, this is the dictatorship planned for us all.

=====

Re:Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

Posted by truthhurts - 2008/07/18 11:14

ThomasK wrote:
truthhurts wrote:

I don't propose to say that all or even most McCain supporters would do crap like this, nor approve of it, but when one swims in the sewer with the rats, the smell will stick. Such is the state of the GOP. Anything goes to win. Anything.

Talk about doublespeak.
Really Thomas? Pray tell, please use your vast experience in Google to find a piece of trash about McCain like the one posted by wake_up earlier about Obama, and post it for us to see.

And while you are at it, do you support the posting of such material? Or more to the point, will you condemn those who do, or just chuckle and say nothing?

=====

Re:Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

Posted by ThomasK - 2008/07/18 11:59

truthhurts wrote:
ThomasK wrote:
truthhurts wrote:

I don't propose to say that all or even most McCain supporters would do crap like this, nor approve of it, but when one swims in the sewer with the rats, the smell will stick. Such is the state of the GOP. Anything goes to win. Anything.

Talk about doublespeak.
Really Thomas? Pray tell, please use your vast experience in Google to find a piece of trash about McCain like the one posted by wake_up earlier about Obama, and post it for us to see.

And while you are at it, do you support the posting of such material? Or more to the point, will you condemn those who do, or just chuckle and say nothing?

Google doublespeak, see how it applies to what you wrote.

---

As far as condemning those, such as Raymond, etc. I've done that numerous times. Over and over again. I have NEVER defended them. I'm not like you.

=====

Re:Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

Posted by unaffiliated_person - 2008/07/18 12:33

---

ThomasK wrote:

unaffiliated_person wrote:

This is revealing. Based upon contribution sources, you can see that the wealthy and corporations are mostly contributing to McCain. Obama's cash mostly comes from the people.

<http://opensecrets.org/pres08/summary.php?cid=N00009638&cycle=2008>

It appears that McCain has been bought by the elite, while Obama is being supported by the people. While I am neither a democrat nor republican, I think the sources for campaign cash speaks volumes about a candidate's motivations and future decision-making.

If you think that either candidate isn't receiving money from the wealthy, your kool aid is spiked.

Obama is receiving from the wealthy, at 19% of his donations. McCain has received 46% of his donations from the wealthy, and another 19% in the name of corporations. Obama has already rejected any corporate donations. That is why I included the sources.

=====

Re:Obama campaign raised $52 million in June

Posted by ThomasK - 2008/07/18 12:47

---

unaffiliated_person wrote:

ThomasK wrote:

unaffiliated_person wrote:

This is revealing. Based upon contribution sources, you can see that the wealthy and corporations are mostly contributing to McCain. Obama's cash mostly comes from the people.

<http://opensecrets.org/pres08/summary.php?cid=N00009638&cycle=2008>

It appears that McCain has been bought by the elite, while Obama is being supported by the people. While I am neither a democrat nor republican, I think the sources for campaign cash speaks volumes about a candidate's motivations and future decision-making.

If you think that either candidate isn't receiving money from the wealthy, your kool aid is spiked.

Obama is receiving from the wealthy, at 19% of his donations. McCain has received 46% of his donations from the wealthy, and another 19% in the name of corporations. Obama has already rejected any corporate donations. That is why I included the sources.

From here on out, he needs to raise $100 million per month. Don't be fooled into thinking where it will come from. The powers to be butter both sides of the bread. Thinking otherwise is foolhardy.

=====